

Can you help us with our research?

Who are we?

We are a team of researchers at Newcastle University, interested in finding out more about family planning, pregnancy, and raising children for people with Myalgic encephalomyelitis (encephalopathy)/chronic fatigue syndrome (ME/CFS)

What are we asking?

We are inviting participants who have a diagnosis of ME/CFS, are aged 18 and over, and living in the United Kingdom, to take part in an online questionnaire about their thoughts and experiences relating to family planning, pregnancy, and raising children.

There will also be the opportunity to take part in an interview exploring these experiences in more detail.

How can I help

If you'd be happy to contribute your thoughts and experiences, you can find out more about the study, provide your consent to take part, and complete the online questionnaire here:
